Basic Detail Report

Lliqlla (Shoulder Cloth)

Date

Late 20 C.

Artist/Maker

Unknown, Quechua

Medium

Wool

Description

Lliklla (llicla), also called a manta in Spanish, that serves as a warm shoulder cloth but may also serve as a carrier for a baby or goods. Two panels stitched together decoratively. Primarily brownblack natural wool warp with groups of narrow stripes in red, maroon, mustard, green, pink, white, and blue. Wider green stripes at the selvedge edge where the panels are joined. Decorative tubing on all four edges.

Dimensions 32 3/4" L x 26" W

Object number NLA1994.07.HOW